

THE DEPARTMENT OF MODERN FOREIGN LANGUAGES & LITERATURES PRESENTS

Inaugural

VERNACULAR

GRADUATE STUDENT SYMPOSIUM February 23-24, 2018

KEYNOTE PRESENTATION:

Bad Acting: On Testimonial Performance and Nazi Perpetrators

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 23 AT 4 PM

Hodges Library Auditorium

Brad Prager is a professor of German and film studies at the University of Missouri-Columbia. Prager's research includes Holocaust studies, film history, contemporary German cinema, and the art and literature of German Romanticism. He is author of After the Fact: The Holocaust in Twenty-First Century Documentary Film.

OTHER EVENTS:

Identity, Representation, and Americanization (German Studies)

Friday, February 23 at 2:30 PM

Hodges Library, Room 213

Nationalism and Migration (French Studies)

Saturday, February 24 at 9:00 AM

Humanities and Social Sciences, Room 68

Parody, Gender, and Representation (Hispanic Studies)

Saturday, February 24 at 10:45 AM

Humanities and Social Sciences, Room 68

trace.tennessee.edu/vernacular